Take Action

Special Edition
Welcome to a special edition of The Maternal Mental Health Alliance Everyone’s Business campaign e-bulletin. As the campaign enters the final year of present funding, this edition concentrates on the current commitments from stakeholders to provide and improve perinatal mental health services for mothers and their families across the UK. See pages 2 and 3 for further details.

Funding for Wales
On the 5th June the Welsh Government announced that £1.5m will be allocated to improve mental health outcomes for women with perinatal illnesses, their babies and other children. Members of the campaign met with Health and Social Services Minister Mark Drakeford and are keen to actively support this encouraging initiative. More details to follow in subsequent eBulletins.

Confirmed Funding - England
The contribution of £75 million over 5 years to be allocated to perinatal mental health services was confirmed in July by the Rt Hon Alistair Burt MP.

We are providing £75 million over the next 5 years so that women experiencing mental ill health during pregnancy and the first year after birth will have better access to care. They will be able to take part in community-based psychological therapy, receive care from specialist community perinatal mental health teams and have rapid access to inpatient mother and baby services close to home for mothers who are very seriously ill.

Minister of State for Community & Social Care, the Rt Hon Alistair Burt MP - 2nd July 2015

Next steps in England
NHS England has commissioned the National Collaborating Centre for Mental Health to support a programme and establish an Expert Reference Group (ERG) of perinatal mental health experts. This includes expertise by experience, as well as from midwifery, health visiting, psychology, psychiatry, obstetrics and commissioning. The ERG (supported by a Technical Team) will:

- Advise on use of the additional £75m investment
- Produce model pathways to implement NICE-concordant care, and Commissioning Guidance to support implementation of these
- Advise on the potential to introduce access and/or waiting-time standards in parts of the pathway

Strategic Clinical Networks (SCNs) have been surveyed to ascertain the nature of services in their area, including service gaps. SCNs are also establishing Networks to coordinate care across the pathway, in line with NICE Guidance, as has already been achieved successfully in some areas.

The NHS Benchmarking Network is undertaking a detailed data collection to gather a baseline picture of current specialist perinatal community services and Mother and Baby Units. National stakeholders will assist with this and help present the data in a meaningful way to support commissioners and providers.
Perinatal Mental Health Stakeholders:

The following pledges of support from key national perinatal mental health stakeholders were made at the Ministerial Roundtable in England (Spring 2015). The campaign would like to thank each of these stakeholders for their continued support. Similar Roundtables are currently being explored with MMHA colleagues in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland.

Mental Health Directorate, we aim to:

- Organise a perinatal mental health commissioning masterclass for Mental Health SCNs
- Explore feasibility / current availability of e-learning for general psychiatrists on perinatal medication

Children & Young People Directorate, we aim to:

- Continue working with and supporting the Maternity and Children’s Strategic Clinical Networks
- Explore the possibility of Co-Commissioning being addressed by Specialised Commissioning for Specialised Perinatal Mental Health

Public Health England

- Continue advocating for prevention and early intervention in relation to maternal mental health
- Collaborate with NHSE and local government (public health teams and LGA) on maternal and infant mental health as part of its ‘Best Start in Life’ national priorities.

NHS Health Education England

- Adopt a tiered approach to perinatal mental health work (following the successful approach to education learning and workforce used for the Dementia programme)
- Take forward this work through collaboration with all involved partners.

Conception to Age 2 – The First 1001 Days: we aim to:

- Involve the MMHA in future regional work, including at local government level
- Commit to the Building Great Britons Report recommendations (including advocating for a Families Minister)

RC PSYCH

- Continue to support the advancement of the Perinatal Faculty
- Continue to work with other parties to provide the increase necessary in the specialist psychiatric workforce
- Work with Health Education England to improve quality control of training available nationally
- Continue to insist that the Mental Health Minimum Data set includes whether women are pregnant or postpartum

College Centre for Quality Improvement

- Provide a national template for the specification of community specialist perinatal mental health services, which will be made available to members/commissioners
Call to ACT

The Maternal Mental Health Alliance’s Everyone’s Business campaign is calling for all women throughout the UK with perinatal mental health conditions to receive the treatment they need, where and when they need it, as outlined in numerous national guidelines.

We aim to:

- Ensure Maternal Mental Health will be a core issue for Public Health Midwives and to make sure there is a coherent suite of Maternal Mental Health training programmes at both student and registered level
- Lobby for accessible programmes
- Emphasise the need to adopt a strategic approach to training and engage with work already being delivered in Scotland

We aim to:

- Explore ways to compile a document about psychological services
- Input into Health Education England plans to co-ordinate training packages
- Contribute to National Clinical Director Mental Health, NHS England masterclass in relation to commissioning from the perspective of psychology services

We aim to:

- Raise awareness of maternal mental health and the impact it has on the child, and hold Government to account (as a policy shaping group)
- Position perinatal mental health within the ‘Inequalities’ agenda

We aim to:

- Launch and disseminate Report on GPs and Perinatal Mental Health
- Produce a guidance document on the practical implications of the NICE guidelines for GPs
- Develop perinatal mental health training

We aim to:

- Raise awareness and lobby for perinatal mental health issues among mental health nurses

We aim to:

- Continue to emphasise the importance of perinatal mental health
- Look at the educational opportunities, including possible event to coincide with International Women’s Day

We aim to:

- Continue delivering training to health professionals
- Develop audit tools and quality standards

Tommy’s

Tommy’s wants all pregnancies to be healthy and safe. They want to see a halving of pregnancy loss by 2030. To do this they fund three, soon to be four, research centres in the UK to understand the causes of stillbirth, premature birth and miscarriage, and to seek interventions to prevent them. They provide evidence based, expert and user led, accessible pregnancy information to support expectant parents in understanding what they can do to support a healthy pregnancy.

Tommy’s midwives deliver a pregnancy information service and do this through an Information Standard accredited website www.tommys.org/pregnancy, through a Facebook page [Tommy’s midwives] and through their pregnancy line 0800 0147 800. They also have an app for parents with premature babies [www.prematurityapp.org]. The information on pregnancy mental health and wellbeing can be found here: www.tommys.org/mentalhealth. Mental and physical health are equally important to pregnancy outcome.

Work includes filmed case studies from families with different pregnancy experiences, a wellbeing plan to support health professionals and expectant/new parents, with a focus on emotional changes in pregnancy and a wealth of content on when this can move towards mental health difficulties. Tommy’s incorporate emotional health into a weekly pregnancy calendar alongside content about the developing baby and physical changes occurring.
